Dear Mr. Oppenheim:

You have been chosen to train for a Peace Corps assignment overseas.

We believe you are one of the small group that can do the job that must be done. It is a tough job with many difficulties and frustrations. But the opportunities and rewards are also great. You will be of service to people of a developing nation, and, depending on your own efforts, you can have a highly enriching, educational experience.

Read the enclosed materials. A brochure describes what your group will do. Study the Peace Corps handbook, especially pages 7-13 on the selection process. Fill out the Invitation Acceptance Form and get it back to us within 10 days. Then we can complete the arrangements for your training.

I hope that I may have the opportunity of meeting you one day in person, either in training or overseas with the Peace Corps.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Sargent Shriver
